

ABSTRACT

The invention provides an aqueous dispersion comprising fumed alumina particles, at least one zirconium compound, and water. The invention further provides a coating composition and a recording medium incorporating the inventive dispersion, as well as a method of preparing the recording medium.